

WHERE ARE THEY NOW

Samir Ghailan Project Engineer for Kingsheath Construction

When did you leave The Howard School?

I left The Howard School in the summer of 2006

Did you go to the Howard School?

What are your favourite memories of School?

Going to Twickenham to play in the under-13s Rugby finals (we came 2nd in the County).

What do you do now?

I have a young family (3x children and a fiancé). I'm a project Engineer for a growing construction company, 'Kingsheath Construction'. I also have a part-time trading business which I'm passionate about.

How did you get to where you are today?

Hard work, many hours of studying. Late nights learning and early mornings pursuing my dreams. Following my heart when I think I want to do something and being determined to follow through with it.

What are your plans for the future?

Become an expert in drone surveying, something I've just started doing with my civil engineering company. Growing my trading business to new heights and write a book about my success and my struggles. Be the best father and fiancé that I can be and enjoy life to the full.

Finally, what would be your advice to students?

If you get an opportunity to do something, take it, even if it feels scary those are the opportunities you don't want to miss.

Enjoy the little things in life and explore the world as much as you can.
